The Sherco Access – introduces you to the world of Trials.

The practice of Trials requires a period of adaptation and learning in this motorcycle discipline, it requires the rider to overcome incredible obstacles that challenge ones balance and riding skills. Moving from another discipline or making the leap from bicycle trials is not an easy task. That is why Sherco has designed a new motorcycle with the goal of being a bridge between learning and evolving in the skill of trials riding. This new motorcycle is designed to be much more affordable and offers the possibility of taking the first steps in the practice of trials without having to purchase a highly competitive machine that is designed to compete at the highest levels of the sport. The focus is on the rider who does not intend to enter into competition but rather wants to enjoy riding a dirt bike without the commitment to compete.

The concerns of many practitioners of the sport who have seen the need for this type of machine has resulted in the new Sherco Access. It is economically less demanding which will allow more enthusiasts to take the first step in the practice of Trials. The new Sherco will utilize many of the same components that have stood the test of time and proven their robustness and efficiency which will allow the new rider to practice the sport without restrictions. If he decides to move forward he can chose one of the new high-end Sherco Trials motorcycles.

The Sherco Access version is only available with the 2-stroke engine in the 2.5 and 2.9 configuration; it will not be available with the 3.2 4-stroke engine.
